NEWS IN BRIEF

Murder Suicide Leaves Toddlers at Home for Days With Bodies

A four-year-old toddler and her infant sibling were left alone in their house for days after their father shot their mother and then himself. Neighbors made the gruesome discovery in the 9100 block of Foster Lane in West Hills after police made a welfare check but no one answered the door. Neighbors had heard the couple arguing the night before. A first responder at the house said it was a “bad scene.” The children were unharmed but were taken to a local hospital for observation.

April 20, known colloquially as “4/20” is an unofficial counterculture holiday to celebrate and consume marijuana. This year, with recreational marijuana legal for those over 21, 420 has a new high. First, the origins of “4/20.”

Depend on who you speak to, and what state they’re in at the time, there are as many answers as pot shops in the west valley. The number of chemicals in marijuana? The number in a Bob Dylan song multiplied? Something to do with Hitler? Tea time in Holland?

The most widely-accepted explanation goes to the source - Marin County, 1971. Five high school students felt they should be able to consume marijuana just as their parents were able to have a glass of wine at 5 pm. They gathered at the campus (Continued to page 10)

Remember the Pleasure Faire at Paramount Ranch?
It Lives On in Irwindale!

The world’s oldest Renaissance Faire, located just 10 minutes east of Pasadena, is also one of the most inclusive places on Earth.

Modern-day cosplayers, hipsters, families and singles all have one thing in common: they have come to escape their 21st Century-reality in favor of a carefree, joyful day mixing with jousting knights, saucy wenches, regal ladies, and the court of a beautiful and gracious queen. The Original Renaissance Pleasure Faire is open Saturdays and Sundays through May 19 at the Santa Fe Dam Recreation Area in Irwindale.

Revelry reigns at this recreation of a bustling 16th-century seaside town where thousands of costumed performers interact with and entertain guests throughout the 23-acre lake-side village. Guests are immersed in the music, language, merchant scene, and entertainment of the era. More than 40 performance groups including magicians, dancers, jousters, comedians, musicians, storytellers, jugglers and improvisation troupes grace the 16 stages throughout the village.

Diversity among Faire guests ensures a wide range of tantalizing entertainment. Adults, children and those in between will find plenty to keep them talking for days after their visit. Among new acts this year, are ‘Tea and Strumpets’ in a limited engagement April 27, 28 and May 4, 5, 18 and 19. Join Chamomile, Peppermint, Ginger, Rosella and the rest of their madcap crew as they sing and dance in this stage show suitable for all audiences.

Join Broon for his zany vaudevillian smack down and don’t miss the free-flying falconry and birds of prey of Sky Kings Falconry. Sing along with local favorites such as the Posy Boggards, The Merry Wives of Windsor, and the Story Wrens. And for international dance and musical flare, don’t miss the world-renowned Seraphim Arabesque, who will share hypnotic movements set to the beats of the Middle East.

The town is abuzz with excitement, as the grandest jousting knight in all of England has agreed to hold a Pas D’Armes for Her Majesty’s visit, in the hope of becoming her champion. This jousting tournament features elite challengers who test their mettle in spectacular feats of equestrian skill, and noble, bone-crunching jousts of honor. Who will dare to compete? Will arrogance and might take the day?

Revelry reigns at this recreation of a bustling 16th century town.

Elizabeth I, whose reign is noted as the start of the English Renaissance period, greets fairgoers throughout the day, and also holds audience at a royal tea. Tea with the Queen is at 4 pm daily in the St. Cuthbert Guild Yard, where authentic English scones, tea sandwiches, tarts and tea are served. Reservations are required. Admission is $26 for adults and $13 for children, and includes a commemorative teapot.

From Kathleen Sterling

Bringing you the news every single week isn’t always an easy task.
Keeping it fresh, keeping it relevant - and most of all - keeping it local, is a huge task. Though we’re a small team we have a great group of regular writers and contributors who maintain a constant flow of news, human interest stories, articles about community happenings and more.

What’s most important to me is that our writers are all locals themselves, with a vested interest in their community and their local paper.

Janey Rikitkin has been with the papers since 1973, and Theda Reichman since the 80’s. Miri Rossitto contributes local business articles from her local entrepreneurial perspective. Other contributors include commercial realtor and former neighborhood council president Scott Silverstein, community activist Laura Levinsky, former city councilman Dennis Zine, Woodland Hills stockbroker and amateur astronomer Neil Simmons.
The newest member of the Valley News Group team - who’s actually been around the longest - is Kaiinth Sterling, editor of our new Encino Enterprise, who has been a feature writer for our entertainment pages for years.
I’m proud to say they are all amazing writers, with a local focus that can only come from being home grown.
We also get news from you, our readers. Members of the chambers of commerce, neighborhood councils, homeowners groups, realtors, police and more - all contribute to these pages.

We work hard to bring you news of your local community because it’s our community as well.

Letter to the Editor:

I have resided on Flamingo Street, south of Topanga and Ventura for over 40 years. I have never seen the weeds as high as they are today. Every city councilman, from Joy Picus, to Laura Chick and to Dennis Zine, have always addressed this problem as quickly as possible. But not Bob Blumenfield’s office, as your paper continues to brown nose him.

This is a disaster waiting to happen. 27 years ago, there was a fatality on Mulholland Drive, between Mulholland Hwy., Valmar Road, and the Motion Picture and Country Home because the obstructionist weeds caused that collision. When one makes a turn up to Mulholland and Flamingo, they have to wait until all the cars come through and they can’t be seen because of the weeds situation. What does one have to do, wait for another fatality? I am very concerned as well as other residents. Please hopefully someone reading this will do something about it.

Disney’s “Dumbo” Flies High at the El Capitan

By Theda Kleinhans Reichman

The one-hour animated Disney film “Dumbo” was released in 1941. Now 78 years later a two-hour live action remake, directed by Tim Burton, has flown into movie theaters across the nation.

In the new version, written by Ehren Kruger, Dumbo is still a baby elephant with oversized ears who learns to fly, but this time his mouse mentor has been replaced by the children of Holt Farrier (Colin Farrell). Holt was a star rider with the Medici Circus, owned by Max Medici (Danny DeVito), before Holt left to serve in World War I.

As the story begins, Holt returns to the circus still wearing his uniform. He has lost one arm during the conflict in France but still wants to perform his old act.

Unfortunately, due to financial hard times, the circus had to sell its horses. Now that his act is no longer in the show, Max gives him a new job which is caring for the circus elephants. This includes Mrs. Jumbo who is about to give birth. When her baby is born with very large ears he is regarded as a little freak.

Fortunately Holt’s children, Milly (Nico Parker) and Joe (Finley Hobbins) take the baby pachyderm under their wing and discover, with the aid of a feather, that Dumbo can actually fly.

Sadly, due to an accident, Mrs. Jumbo is locked up, leaving Dumbo without his mother. Then, as in the 1941 original, he comes to visit her as “Baby Mine” is sung.

Soon Dumbo’s ability to fly makes headlines and the very wealthy V.A. Vandervere (Michael Keaton) enters the scene accompanied by the beautiful French aerialist Colette Marchant (Eva Green). He wants Dumbo to be the headline attraction at his amazing amusement park “Dreamland.” He succeeds by buying the Medici Circus just to acquire Dumbo. But what will happen to Dumbo, his mom and Holt and his two children?

“Dumbo” is rated PG for peril, action, some thematic elements and scenes of jeopardy involving the little elephant which might be too intense for very young viewers.

If you see “Dumbo” at the El Capitan Theatre on Hollywood Blvd, there are quite a few extras that will make the experience even more special.

For starters, prior to the movie there is a circus themed stage show featuring acrobatics, juggling and stunts that include a balancing act. Lively and fun, the show will please the kids and the kid inside each adult.

In the theater lobby there is a replica of Dumbo, so bring a camera or your cell phone so you can photograph the kids with this delightful flying elephant. There is also a large white feather you can hold as you pose.

For further information call the El Capitan at 1-800-Disney6.

The Meaning of 4–20

statue of chemist Louis Pasteur to smoke at 4:20 pm.

They began to use the code “420” for marijuana.

One of the five’s brothers reportedly knew Grateful Dead bassist Phil Lesh, so the term was supposedly spread in popularity by the band. In 1990 Deadheads handed out flyers inviting people to smoke “420” on April 20 at 4:20 pm.

Steve Bloom, a reporter for the publication High Times, got a hold of a flyer and published a copy - then continued to use the reference.

Not just in Northern California, but globally marijuana use became known as “4-20” and an unofficial holiday was born.

This year, there are licensed, permitted outlets in California that legally can sell recreational marijuana to those over 21, even without a medical card.

Certainly the availability has changed, and marijuana has come into the mainstream - in legal outlets and in the media. But the mystique - and mantra - of 4-20 remains the same.

Juice it Up for Health

By Allie Priorie

First it was smoothies. Then came along juices. Suddenly there were superfoods which seemed to change every week. It became a question of “What health craze is trendy this week?”

It is true - the health world is ever changing. It can be overwhelming trying to keep up with and as soon as you get acclimated to one trend, a new one pops up.

Well, I am here to help bring some calm to the storm. I find that a lot of people these days are talking about celery. This vegetable, when juiced, has properties that are supposed to act as a natural reset for your body.

Over these last few years celery juice has gained popularity for its healing properties and its effects on the body due to a man named Anthony William. Known to many as the “Medical Medium” it is his book and philosophy that has brought celery juice to the forefront of the health world.

He truly believes that celery is a magical vegetable with powerful healing properties that can restore balance to the body. He advises that celery juice should be consumed first thing in the morning - even before water.

He advises a 16 oz. serving of pure celery juice to truly receive the full benefits. Just to clarify, this is different than the normal green juices you may be thinking of which can include kale, spinach, or cilantro. This is straight celery juice - no additives.

But what is it about celery that makes it so unique? Below are some of the healing properties of celery juice when consumed on its own:

√ aids digestion
√ reduces risk of heart disease
√ lowers blood pressure
√ alleviates inflammation
√ helps with weight loss
√ increases bile which helps break down fats
√ maintains healthy cholesterol
√ boosts immune system by feeding good bacteria in your gut
√ balances blood sugar levels

These are just a few of the many benefits celery juice has on the body. Those who have incorporated celery juice into their daily routines rave about its benefits and the results. They also report feeling much more energized, having clearer skin and less anxiety.

But if pure celery juice seems a bit intense to jump into there are other options. Try combining your celery juice with a little bit of apple juice to sweeten it. You can also start by drinking cucumber juice because it is less bitter then slowly graduate up to celery.

Walk of Hearts to Honor Local Teachers

The annual Walk of Hearts celebration of local teachers will take place Sunday, May 5, at 10 am at The Village at Westfield Topanga.

The Walk of Hearts Foundation recognizes teachers for their commitment, innovation and positive influence on their students’ lives.

The 2019 recipients are Edie Aitchison, Welby Way Elementary School, Caryn Michaels, Canoga Park High School, Dan Saborio, O’Melveny Elementary/Justice Street School and Michele Wydra, Birmingham Community Charter High School.

According to Joe Andrews, founder, a Walk of Hearts teacher is motivating, stimulating, and has that unique ability to inspire and perhaps - with a word or two of encouragement - change a life.

The teachers are honored with a bronze plaque embedded in the sidewalk along Victory Blvd.

The event is free and open to the public; RSVP at WOH2019.eventbrite.com.

Kaiser Permanente Woodland Hills Named to Newsweek’s World’s Best Hospitals 2019

Hot on the heels of its Healthgrades “America’s 50 Best Hospitals” accolade earlier this year and two Top Docs physician awards this month, Kaiser Permanente Woodland Hills has received another unique distinction as a 2019 Newsweek “World’s Best Hospital” in a survey of approximately 2,700 hospitals nationwide.

Newsweek has spent the better part of nine decades covering every aspect of health care and partnered with Statista Inc., a global market research company, to develop a groundbreaking ranking of the world’s best hospitals. The hospitals were selected based on recommendations from medical professionals, patient survey results and medical performance indicators. They all provide top-notch patient care in an industry of which Newsweek said, “None is more politically contentious, tightly regulated, scientifically significant or economically important.” Kaiser Woodland Hills came in at number 123 on the list of U.S. hospitals.
Health & Wellness Update: The Great American Craze

By Janey M. Rifkin

Unless peanuts cause an allergic reaction in your family, chances are your pantry has a supply of peanut butter, loved by adults and kids as well. On the plus side, it’s rich in heart-healthy monounsaturated fats, protein and fiber. Peanuts and other nuts help protect against health disease. Type 2 diabetes and weight gain. But the peanut butter picture isn’t so clear.

In a Harvard study, eating more peanut butter did not protect against cardiovascular disease. Another Harvard study, completed in 2017, showed a discrepancy – but presumed to explain it was the way peanut butter is consumed.

Peanut butter add-ins may negate some of the health benefits. The youngsters, for instance, most often ate their P.B. on white bread, smothered with jelly. Skip the added sugars as well as the poor choice of bread – they negate the nutritious value.

Skip the reduced-fat jar of peanut butter as well. You don’t save that much on calories and you’re cutting out the heart-healthy fats. On the plus side, a two-tablespoon serving of P.B. has about 14% of the magnesium you should get in a day. This mineral may build bone density and may lower diabetes and stroke risk.

Janey Rifkin is a locally-based journalist; executive editor of a national magazine; and a syndicated health columnist.

Aromatherapy: An Alternative Approach To Western Medicine

Wellness, it’s a thing. It’s trendy, especially in Los Angeles. We all want to live a healthy lifestyle and be our best selves, (even if we do eat the occasional hamburger and French fries), but who doesn’t? A healthy lifestyle makes us feel better, look vibrant and most importantly, makes us live longer. We may agree on the benefits of healthy living, but our methods to obtain these goals may be quite different.

As our culture begins to become more aware of healthy living habits, we’re starting to find alternative methods of healing.

Instead of immediately going to the medicine cabinet to relieve our symptoms, we’re starting to look for more natural remedies. One of these remedies is known as aromatherapy.

Aromatherapy uses essential oils, comprised of plant materials, to aid in relieving various ailments and improving a person’s physical and emotional wellbeing.

Essential oils may be absorbed three ways: topically, via inhalation and through ingestion. Essential oils are powerful, meaning it offers many benefits from one oil.

Aromatherapy uses essential oils to aid in relieving various ailments and improving a person’s wellbeing.

1. Topically: Apply to wrists, behind ears, back of neck, bottom of feet etc.*
2. Inhalation: Add essential oil(s) to diffuser with water.
3. Ingestion: Add essential oil(s) to tea, spoonful of honey or directly into the mouth.*

*Test out small area of oil on skin for skin sensitivities. Not all essential oils can be digested.

Here are four main essential oils you can’t live without and their benefits:

1. Lavender: helps relieve pain, stress/anxiety, insomnia and exhaustion. This oil is calming and soothing. Apply to temples, wrists and add to a diffuser to de-stress the atmosphere. You also add in five to seven drops into your bath for deeper relaxation.

2. Peppermint: helps relieve pain, nausea, and exhaustion. This oil is uplifting and invigorating. Apply to wrists, back of neck and add to a diffuser to energize the space. Be careful to avoid the eye area, as this oil is potent.
3. Lemon: helps relieve anxiety, nausea, and exhaustion. This oil is bright and happy. Apply to wrists, collar bones, behind ears and add to a diffuser to brighten the room. You can also add one to three drops to water or your favorite tea.
4. Frankincense: helps relieve pain, stress/anxiety, and is great for anti-aging. This oil is a powerhouse, meaning it offers many benefits from one oil. Apply to wrists, bottoms of feet (will help balance your mood) and add to a diffuser to cheer up the atmosphere. You can also mix with a carrier oil (fractioned coconut is my favorite) and apply directly to your skin to help with wrinkles, acne and smoothing out the skin.

So whether you feel like you need a boost of energy or need some calm in your life, ditch the medicine cabinet and try aromatherapy. If anything, your mood will change and your wellness game will be on point.

Community members soaked in the sunshine on Saturday, April 13, while simultaneously doing their part to beautify the neighborhood. West Valley Woodland Hills Chamber of Commerce volunteers, led by Sean McCarthy, teamed up to freshly paint the Balboa Bridge that spans across the L.A. River.

His passion project since 2010, McCarthy continues to paint the bridge over the years, clearing away graffiti and natural wear and tear so that the community can continue to enjoy the beauty of the surrounding area. Bikers, runners and passersby yelled their thanks as they passed by the volunteers that were painting.
