News in Brief

Residents Tackle Arsonist

The Kenneth Fire whch erupted in West Hills, was the result of arson. The fire began Thursday afternoon at the Victory Trailhead. Approximately a half hour later, at 4:30 pm, vigilant residents saw a suspect trying to light a fire in the 21700 block of Ybarra Street in Woodland Hills. According to LAPD Senior Lead Officer Sean Dinse, those residents detained the suspect, who was taken into custody by LAPD.

The fire had exploded to 960 acres by 5:35 pm and had spread west to the edge of Agoura just north of the 101 Freeway. At press time it was reportedly 35% contained. An investigation of the suspect is ongoing.

Fighting Human Trafficking at Information Session

The Rotary Club of Woodland Hills is working diligently with other Rotary Clubs in the San Fernando Valley to lessen the crime of human trafficking and protect our children. More than 3,000 children every year in California alone become victims of sex trafficking, destroying their lives and their families. On January 11, their second annual human trafficking information event will take place in Woodland Hills. This free community event will address Internet security. Speakers include representatives from the Department of Homeland Security, Department of Children and Family Services and LAPD. Attendees will also hear from a survivor advocate as she tells her amazing story.

The event will be held from 2 to 4:30 pm at the Rose Goldwater Community Center, 21710 Vanowen Street, Canoga Park (at the corner of Owensmouth on the Westfield Topanga lot). RSVP to info.safezone911@gmail.com. For more information call Robin Kellogg at (818) 631-6848.

Fire Fuels the New Year

Despite recently welcoming in a new year, Californians have been battling with long familiar threats as wildfires continue to burn throughout the state. At presstime, there are still five fires currently burning including the Palisades Fire at 8% containment, the Hurst Fire at 37% containment and the Eaton Fire at 3% containment, the Sunset Fire at containment and the Kenneth Fire at 35% containment.

Firefighters have not only had to battle extremely dry conditions but fierce winds that have made the ability to control the flames almost impossible. Red flag warnings were issued as gusts close to 100 mph peaked overnight from Tuesday evening to Wednesday morning, bringing a "life-threatening, destructive and widespread windstorm."

Darkened skies, erratic flames, extreme winds and flying debris have caused many residents to declare the situation as nothing short of apocalyptic. While firefighters and emergency personnel have been dispatched to the various locations, it has become evident that there seem to be

Will Your Auto Insurance Pay if You Abandon Your Car in a Fire?

By Tim Gaspar

Earlier this week, our community suffered the devastating combination of an historic windstorm, bone dry vegetation, and wildfire. The result was a number of fires that exploded in size and intensity driven by 60-80 mph wind gusts and a terrain ravaged by drought. At the time this article was written, hundreds of homes, buildings, vehicles, etc. had been destroyed by the wildfire. The destruction happened so quickly that many residents got out with literally just the clothes on their back. Is insurance going to be able to put these families' lives back together? Thankfully the answer is (typically) yes; this catastrophic event is exactly what insurance is for.

Here is a list of frequently asked questions about insurance coverage and how coverage might apply:

-Does the average homeowners insurance policy or a California Fair Plan policy cover damage from wildfire? Yes, a typical homeowners policy (called an "HO3") or a California

• Water is the most esssential element of life, because without water, you can't make coffee.

• As we go into the new year, it is wise to remember the words of one of our sage friends, that "Money is a renewable resource. You cannot get back time, family or health, but you can somehow always figure a way to make money." Remember what's really important.

• Another way of saying that is "Measure wealth not by the things you have but by the things you have for which you would not take money."

• We have a friend who overlooked his electric bill and received a last bill from them marked FINAL NOTICE. He immediately made out a check and mailed it in with the bill, which he changed to read FINALLY NOTICED.

• Who doesn't need a good bee joke? A hive is hum, sweet hum; a swarm is a bee-seige and the queen bee is the power behind the drone. Everybody, buzz off!

• If sarcasm is "barbed ire," why can't a temper tantrum be named the "call of the riled?" Then, is a neurotic a self-taut person?

• What did the battery say to the potato chip? A> If you're ever-ready, I'm Frito-lay!

• When you think about it, good health is merely the slowest possible rate at which one can die.

Word on the Street

----------From Kathleen Sterling

It takes a tragedy to turn a big city into a small village.

L.A. is facing fires on all sides; it looks apocalyptic, and there is a long, hard road ahead.

But I am inspired by how we have sprung into action.

So many businesses have stepped up to help.

Paul and David at Cavaretta's Deli, 22025 Sherman Way, are always the first to offer food and comfort. Airbnb is offering a free week to evacuees. L.A. Fitness, Planet Fitness and Crunch Fitness are offering free showers and WiFi. A garage door company offered to come out and open doors if power is off.

Locally Tim Gaspar is collecting essentials like gift cards, toiletries, underwear, and first aid supplies at Gaspar Insurance, 23161 Ventura. Meinecke Hardy of L.A. Hot Hair, 21912 Ventura, is doing the same and offering a free blowout to donors. Fazio Cleaners is collecting clothing at all their locations for evacuees (4732 Commons Way).

As always during a crisis, the amazing team at the Pierce Equestrian Center is sequestering large animals for their owners.

On my own front, my family and friends jumped in to load up my car as I left the canyon when the fire came over the ridge.

All over Facebook you see people offering their homes, their offices, their help.

What can you do? The large relief organizations are always boots on the ground. But this is a chance for neighbor to help neighbor.

El Camino High School is an evacuation center. Call them to find out what they need for people who've lost everything: sheets, towels, water, food.

If you can, get gift cards for friends or neighbors who have lost a home. Target and Starbucks could be lifesavers!

Donate old towels and blankets to an animal shelter.

Bring food, water and snacks to your local fire station. The firefighters are the true heroes here.

Pray for those who have been affected. It's devastating to watch, and even more devastating to live through.

And please, please, slow down and watch the road! Traffic signals are out all over L.A. I've seen cars just barrel through a dead light. We don't need more tragedy heaped upon tragedy.

Please be safe out there. Be alert. Unfortunately with all the good being done, there are miscreants looting and reportedly starting some of these fires.

I've written before about how we pull together in a crisis to help each other - and how nice it would be if it happened all the time.

Realistically it won't. But let's take this opportunity to do what we can. Because our neighbors need help. And the way these fires are spreading - one in West Hills just erupted as I'm writing this - who knows if you might be the next one who needs a hand up.

Seven Things to Do When Filing an Insurance Claim

By Tim Gaspar

Lost your home? Have damage from the fires? Smoke? There are certain things you should do to expedite your insurance claim.

Have Your Home Policy Information Handy: Include your policy number and phone number to file a claim. Many carriers also allow you to file the claim online.

List Damaged or Lost Items: In addition to telling the carrier what type of damage your home sustained, the insurance carrier will also ask you to make a list of personal items damaged or destroyed in the fire. This is where a video or pictures of the inside of your home come in handy. This can take some time to put together so it's better to start sooner than later. You will want to provide a description of the items and possibly an approximate replacement cost. Your insurance carrier will ask you if you have receipts and/or pictures of these items - those are generally helpful but not required.

Temporary Living Expenses: Put together a list of any expenses you incur for being out of your home including hotel stays, meals, transportation, etc.

Fire Department Report: Request a copy of the fire department's report, which can confirm the cause and scope of the wildfire.

Evacuation Notices: Get official documentation that confirms you were in an evacuation zone.

Notes of Conversations: Document every interaction with your insurance company, including the names of representatives, dates, and summaries of what was discussed.

Organizing Your Claim: Create a folder or digital file to store all relevant documents, receipts, and communication logs. Being organized and thorough will not only expedite the process but also reduce stress during an already difficult time.

One more quick note. You WILL get a call from a public adjuster wanting to represent you in the claim. Don't sign any kind of contract with anyone for at least a few days. Public adjusters can be helpful and provide value in large and complicated claims but they take a percentage of the claim dollars so depending on your carrier and complexity (or lack thereof) of your claim you might not need a public adjuster.

Host of the Golden Globes Nikki Glaser.

Glaser Kicked Off a Pope-ular Awards Season with the Golden Globes

With the recent broadcast of the Golden Globes, awards season in Los Angeles has officially kicked off. Comedian Nikki Glaser hosted the ceremony in which both the best of television and the best of film were honored – but as she joked, major A-list actors have gravitated towards television so that the distinction between mediums has definitely blurred.

Glaser not only made award show history by being the first female to host the Golden Globes solo, but critics have raved about her ability to strike a perfect balance of mocking and celebrating the nominees. Is it too much to hope that this "Pope-ular" host will return next year?!

While Glaser stole the show, there were two clear winners who swept in their categories: The Brutalist, a three-and-a-half-hour drama that includes its own intermission, and Shogun, an FX television drama set in Japan in the year 1600. And truly, was it a surprise to anyone that Wicked won the Golden Globe for the Cinematic and Box Office Achievement award, aka, the common man's most popular choice? It's the "movie, not a film category" if you will.

The full list of winners:

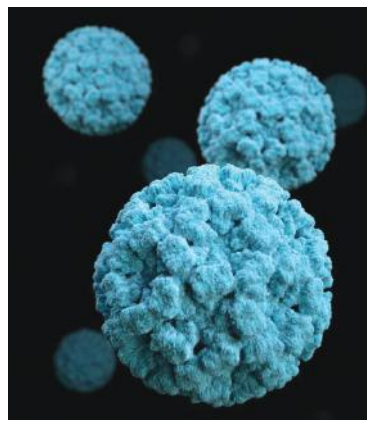
Norovirus is Spiking Among Californians



The Centers for Disease Control has reported an alarming increase of norovirus cases in the month of December. The most recent numbers from the CDC reflect there were 91 outbreaks reported during the week of December 5, up from 69 outbreaks the last week of November. This extremely contagious virus, which causes vomiting and diarrhea, has only continued to escalate in recent weeks.

While the virus is similar to the stomach flu, it is not caused by the influenza virus, but rather tiny particles of feces or vomit that are transmitted from an infected individual. It is highly contagious because an infected individual can shed billions of norovirus particles that are impossible to see with the naked eye. It only takes a few of those particles to infect others.

Norovirus, also dubbed the winter vomiting disease, causes an inflammation of the stomach and intestines (acute gastroenteritis) that then causes diarrhea, vomiting and intense stomach pains. While the virus is active for only a few days, the CDC stresses that an individual can be contagious for multiple days after they've seemingly recovered.

To limit one's exposure, the CDC recommends being vigilant about washing your hands. Hand sanitizer does not work well against the virus! When cooking, properly wash everything as needed and cook raw foods to at least 145°F, which is the temperature at which norovirus can die.

There is no specific treatment for norovirus other than to stay properly hydrated to replenish lost fluids. Those that have more severe cases may need medical attention for adequate treatment such as IV drips.

Is Dry January a Safe Resolution to Make?

As a New Year begins, one of the resolutions that seems to reign popular with many is the adoption of "dry January" or the period of eliminating all alcohol intake for 30 days. For some it serves as a kicking off point to vow to drink less in the new year not only for the betterment of their health, but also for their wallet.

Some simply use the dry period as a way to detox from the heavily fueled holiday season and give their liver a break before introducing alcohol back into their diet the following month. Yet all seem to claim that limiting alcohol intake is beneficial for their overall health. So is dry January actually a beneficial tool to be utilized? Experts say that it can be if done the appropriate way.

First, consumers are advised to look at their baseline drinking habits and then clearly state why they want to take part in "dry January." For someone who drinks an occasional glass of wine, this deprivation period will most likely not do much for him or her.

However, for someone with a more moderate drinking pattern, abstaining from alcohol abruptly could cause mild, but obvious, withdrawals like headaches. Yet, once that upsides, your body will be running clearer and cleaner. Taking a one month break won't recalibrate your drinking patterns or health, so it's important to evaluate why you want to partake in dry January and the steps you plan to take once the month ends.

Perhaps the biggest benefit is seeing how your body functions (mentally, emotionally, physically, socially, etc.) without the dependence on alcohol. Are you sleeping better? Getting through your workouts easier? Is your skin feeling more hydrated?

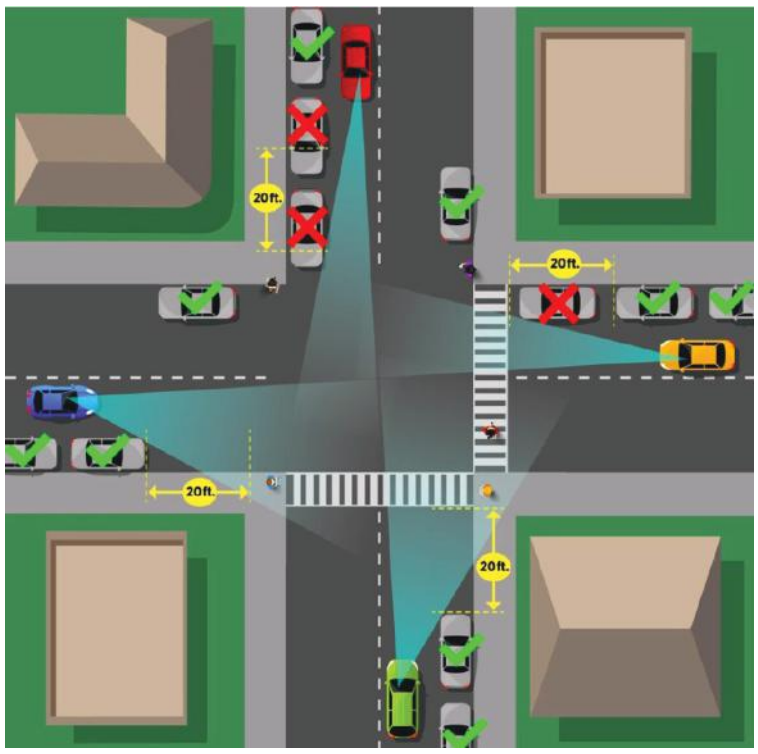
During this flu season, it could also be beneficial to your immune system. Intoxication can suppress your immune system making you more susceptible to pathogens. Alcohol doesn't kill all germs! Drinking less, consuming more water and having more energy could up your chances of not catching the flu.

Once the month is up, evaluate how it went. Do you feel better? Have you lost weight? Saved money? Thinking a bit clearer? Do you just miss the social aspect of drinking? While the pattern of indulge-abstain-indulge is never highly recommended by any health professional, dry January can be a crucial evaluating period if done correctly to see what your relationship with alcohol is. It's also important to note that your tolerance will also be lower if you do decide to start drinking again so it's important to return to it slowly.

Drinking less, consuming more water and having more energy could up your chances of not catching the flu.

While dry January is extremely popular, it doesn't need to be the first month of a new year to evaluate your drinking habits. Pick any month that suits your schedule and see how much of a difference it could possibly make to your well-being.

According to psychologists, it takes approximately 21 days of conscious and consistent efforts to create a new habit but breaking an existing habit can take considerably longer. Patience is key and while it may take baby steps to ultimately reach your goal, the bigger picture could be worth it.



New Daylighting Law Bans Parking Near Crosswalks

Assembly Bill 413, also known as the "daylighting" law, recently went into effect on January 1, 2025. The law was crafted in an effort to further protect pedestrians by banning parking within 20 feet of marked or unmarked crosswalks. This will apply to all intersections, regardless if there is a red curb or no parking sign present. Lawmakers hope that this will increase "daylight" visibility and lead to less motor-pedestrian accidents by improving the range of vision for drivers.

Daylighting is the simple concept that safety is improved by removing parked cars next to crosswalks. By keeping the area next to crosswalks clear of parked vehicle obstructions, people walking and people driving or riding on the street can see each other better.

Abandoned Your Car? Who Pays?

Fair Plan policy covers not only damage from wildfire but also damage caused by smoke.

-Will my insurance company pay for a hotel if I get evacuated? Generally speaking, yes. The "loss of use" portion of your policy will pay for a hotel room, the cost of eating out, and buying toiletries and any other necessities. Be sure to be reasonable with your spending (ideally don't book the Presidential suite at the Waldorf or buy all the A5 wagyu in LA) and keep your receipts to maximize reimbursement.

-I had to leave my car on Sunset Blvd and make a run for it; is my car covered if it gets destroyed? As long as you have "comprehensive" coverage on your auto policy, it will be covered for fire damage regardless of whether it's in your garage, your driveway or idling on Sunset Blvd.

-My car that burned up had a trunk full of my personal belongings; are those covered? Yes, as long as you have homeowners insurance or a renters insurance policy, your personal property is covered no matter where it was destroyed/damaged, whether it be in a vehicle, storage unit, friend's house, etc. Pro tip: if you have particularly expensive items, it's always a good idea to have the receipts or pictures to be able to prove you had them.

-Seems like my insurance will cover pretty much everything? Is any destroyed property not covered on a typical home policy? Yes, there are coverage limitations on items on a few high value categories like jewelry, art, collectibles, etc. You need a special "personal article floater" policy for those types of items.

As long as you have "comprehensive" coverage on your auto policy, it will be covered for fire damage regardless of whether it's in your garage, your driveway or idling on Sunset Blvd.

At the end of the day, a typical auto and homeowners or renters insurance policy is going to replace most, if not all, of the property you lost, but it can't replace YOU. When you get the order to evacuate, do it quickly so you don't need to leave your car idling on Sunset Blvd. Stay safe!

Fire Fuels the New Year

just too little resources for too massive of an emergency. Early Wednesday morning, Governor Newsom declared a state of emergency and urged all Southern Californians to be alert to any orders from emergency personnel and to evacuate if told to do so.

If time permits, and safety is not threatened, experts advise those in evacuation warning areas to quickly make a cell phone video of everything inside of their home - film into closets, open drawers and anything you can capture for potential insurance purposes. Have a "go-bag" handy with essential documents, medicine and spare clothing. If you are in an area declared for a mandatory evacuation, leave immediately.

For those looking for updates, WatchDuty.org has been a major resource for those looking to monitor the fire, get the most recent up-to-date evacuation orders and get alerts of any further breaking news.

You have 30 CALENDAR DAYS after this summons and legal papers are served on you to file a written response at this court and have a copy served on the plaintiff. A letter or phone call will not protect you. Your written response must be in proper legal form if you want the court to hear your case. There may be a court form that you can use for your response. You can find these court forms and more information at the California Courts Online Self-Help Center (www.courtinfo.ca.gov/selfhelp), your county law library, or the courthouse nearest you. If you cannot pay the filing fee, ask the court clerk for a fee waiver form. If you do not file your response on time, you may lose the case by default, and your wages, money, and property may be taken without further warning from the court. There are other legal requirements. You may want to call an attorney right away. If you do not know an attorney, you may want to call an attorney referral service. If you cannot afford an attorney, you may be eligible for free legal services from a nonprofit legal services program. You can locate these nonprofit groups at the California Legal Services Web site (www.lawhelpcalifornia.org), the California Courts Online Self-Help Center (www.courtinfo.ca.gov/selfhelp), or by contacting your local court or county bar association.

Una carta o una llamada telefónica no lo protegen. Su respuesta por escrito tiene que estar en formato legal correcto si desea que procesen su caso en la corte. Es posible que haya un formulario que usted pueda usar para su respuesta. Puede encontrar estos formularios de la corte y más información en el Centro de Ayuda de las Cortes de California (www.sucorte.ca.gov), en la biblioteca de leyes de su condado o en la corte que le quede más cerca. Si no puede pagar la cuota de presentación, pida al secretario de la corte que le dé un formulario de exención de pago de cuotas. Si no presenta su respuesta a tiempo, puede perder el caso por incumplimiento y la corte le podrá quitar su sueldo, dinero y bienes sin más advertencia.
Hay otros requisitos legales. Es recomendable que llame a un abogado inmediatamente. Si no conoce a un abogado, puede llamar a un servicio de remisión a abogados. Si no puede pagar a un abogado, es posible que cumpla con los requisitos para obtener servicios legales gratuitos de un programa de servicios legales sin fines de lucro.
